COMMUNITY SCHOOL SUPPORT "FANTASTIC"

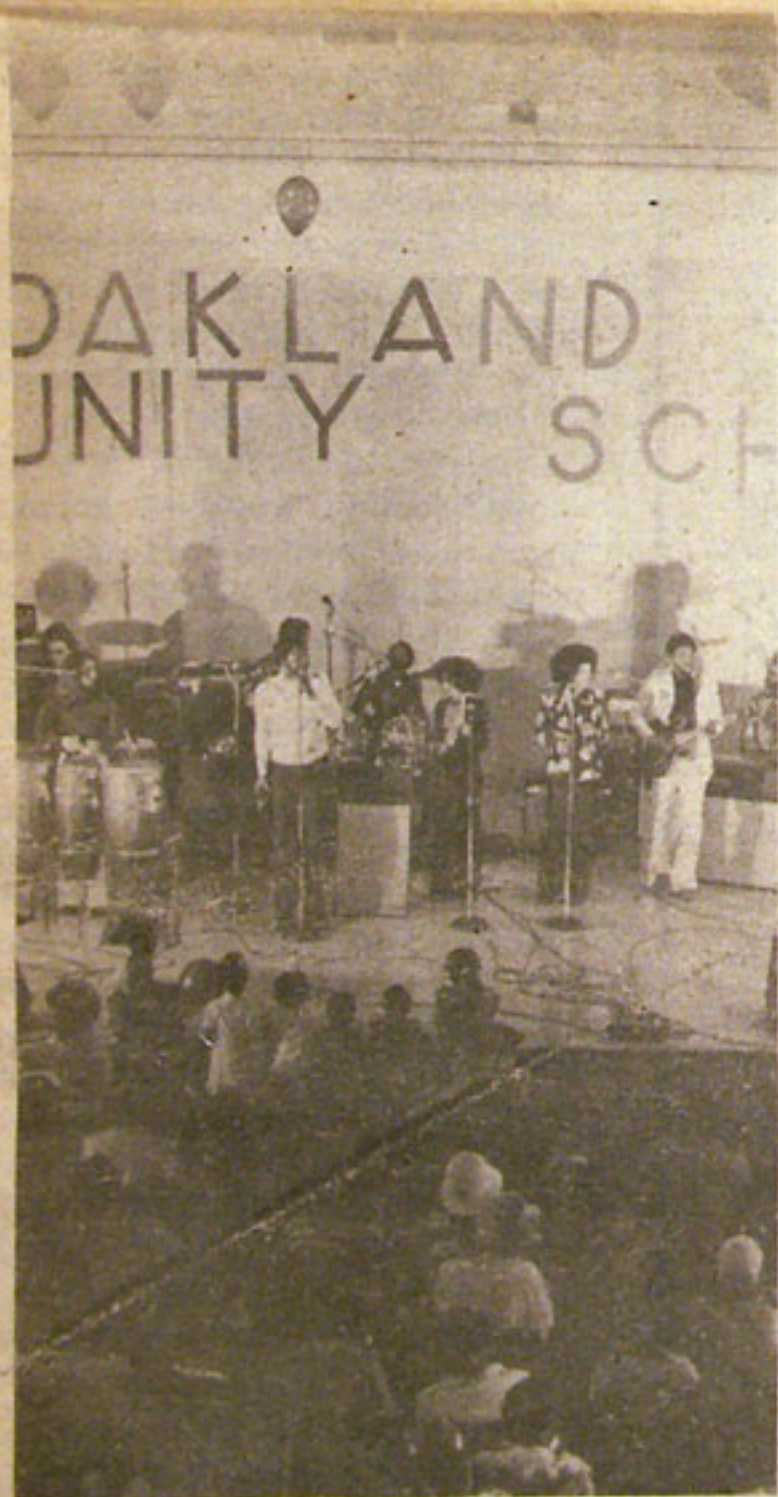

(Oakland, Calif.) - "Fantastic," "Overwhelming," "Outsight," "Baaad," are just a few of the many superlatives that have been used to describe last Sunday's Oakland Community School (OCS) benefit Radiothon, co-sponsored with fervor by KDIA.

Spirit and unity the likes of which the city of Oakland has rarely seen overflowed the Oakland Community Learning Center as over $12,000 was pledged to support the five-year-old model elementary level School.

More than 1,000 people, from 8 to 80, beat a path through the pouring rain to jam-pack the East Oakland Center for eight solid hours of top-flight entertainment. Literally dozens of state and Bay Area notables — community, civic and religious leaders, educators, media personalities and more — came out to make a personal appearance on stage, pledging financial and moral aid while making strong statements of support. (See back page and page 10.)

The entire benefit was broadcast live over KDIA, 1310 AM on the dial, as 10 volunteers busily took down the pledge information telephoned in on a specially installed line operating only on Sunday.

Credit the Educational Opportunities Corporation (EOC), the nonprofit, tax-exempt community-based group which sponsors the Oakland Community School as its largest program, and the staff of KDIA with having organized a simply remarkable all-day, all-around event — made even more meaning-
