(Sacramento, Calif.) The Oakland Community School (OCS), widely praised by local and state officials and community leaders for its outstanding contribution to the education of Black and poor youth, received a special commendation here last week from the state legislature for obtaining "...the highest level of scholastic achievement in elementary education" and for having "concretely defied the myth of the uneducable child..."

The framed resolution was presented to Huey P. Newton, founder and president of the Black Panther Party, who founded the East Oakland-based model elementary level OCS in 1971; Elaine Brown, chairperson of the BPP and executive director of Educational Opportunities Corporation (EOC), the non-profit, tax-exempt, community-based organization that administers the OCS; and Ericka

ERICKA HUGGINS, ELAINE BROWN, HUEY P. NEWTON and the children of the Oakland Community School proudly received a commendation from the California legislature last Thursday praising the innovative, community-based school. Last Sunday, 5,000 people came to the Radiothon sponsored by the Oakland Community Learning Center and KRE Radio to show their appreciation and support for the nearly 50 community service programs sponsored by the OCLC. The all-day affair was a resounding success and raised $10,048 for these programs, which serve 2,500 people weekly.
